

Ferdinand Müller-Rommel
Forschungskolloquium Politikwissenschaft (Research Lectures)

Sommersemester 2023

Klingemann Distinguished Lecture

Tuesday 14-16h C.40.256

11.4. Andrew Moravcsik (Princeton University)

Professor of Politics and International Affairs

More Bark than Bite: Why Extreme-Right Populist Parties Achieve So Little In Foreign Policy

Antrittsvorlesung

12.4. Michael Koss (Leuphana University)

Wednesday 16-18h HS 3

Professor for German Politics and the European Union

Warum Demokratien sterben und warum nicht‘

18.4. Marina Henke (Hertie School Berlin)

Tuesday 16-18h C12.101

Professor of International Relations and Director of the Center for International Security

The Psychology of Limited Nuclear War.

3.5. David M. Rowe (Fulbright Nato Security Fellow, Brussels)

Professor of Political Science, Kenyon College

Wednesday 16-18h C12.101

Liberalism, Liberal Democracy, and the War in Ukraine

16.5. Julie Kaarbo (University of Edinburgh)

Tuesday 16-18h C12.101

Professor for Foreign Policy and founding co-Director of the Centre on Security Research

Breaking Bad: Leader Personality Change and Political Effects

30.5. Simon Franzmann and Felicia Riethmüller
 (University of Göttingen)

Tuesday 16-18h C12.101

Professor for Research on Democracy

Symbolic or substantial? German subnational parties' use of group appeals

05.6. Sebastian Elischer (University of Florida)

Monday 14-16h C40.601

Professor of Comparative Politics

U.S. Security Sector Assistance and Military Coups in Africa.

Findings from a Mixed-Methods Approach

Antrittsvorlesung

7.6. Sarah Engler (Leuphana University)

Wednesday 16-18h HS 4

Professor for Comparative Politics

Title: Wenn Parteien über Demokratie sprechen –

Idealvorstellungen, Konflikte und Auswirkungen auf Wähler*innen

13.6. Endre Borbath (Science Center Berlin, WZB)

Tuesday 16-18h C12.101

Postdoctoral Researcher

Environmental Mobilization in Europe

Antrittsvorlesung

28.6. Tobias Lenz (Leuphana University)

Wednesday 16-18h HS 3

Professor of International Relations

Title: Repräsentation in der internationalen Politik.