

Creating Group Rooms (Breakout Rooms) via Zoom

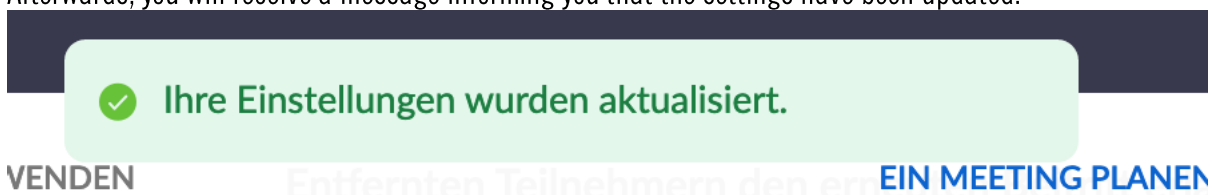

Zoom offers the possibility to divide participants into separate groups. This can be activated via the settings of Zoom. To do this, log in on the website zoom.us with your access data. Now go to the settings.

Now activate Breakout Room under In Meeting (Extended).

Afterwards, you will receive a message informing you that the settings have been updated.

In the meeting, you will find the option Breakout Session at the bottom of the control bar

You can now set the number of group rooms and assign the participants automatically or manually to them.

When following this link, you will find further explanations on the use of breakout rooms. You will learn how to start and end sessions, and how to distribute participants to the rooms.
