

Invitation to bid for Teaching Award 2019 - Category Student Suggestions

2019-01-15 The awarding of outstanding teaching personalities and teaching concepts in the form of teaching prizes emphasises excellent research as well as excellent teaching as a characteristic of a good university. The Leuphana University of Lüneburg has been awarding annual teaching prizes since 2007 in recognition of outstanding achievements in teaching and teaching development.

Teaching Award 2019

This year, teaching prizes will be awarded in two categories. In the first category, a teaching prize is awarded to an outstanding full-time teacher nominated by students.

In a second category, up to three teaching prizes will be awarded for innovative teaching concepts submitted for courses already held. All teachers are invited to submit their concepts.

- Teaching prize in the category of student proposal

The tender for this teaching prize category has already been launched. Please submit your proposals by 10.02.2019.

- Teaching Prizes in the category Teaching Concepts for this category a separate invitation to tender will be issued. This focuses on a didactically relevant topic. Further information will be announced soon.

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact Dr. Judith Gurr, Dialogical Learning Specialist (lehrpreis@leuphana.de; 04131/677-2709).

Datum: 2019-01-15

Autor: Norbert Sattler

E-Mail: norbert.sattler@uni.leuphana.de